WEATHER FORECAST

Fair tonight and Tuesday, warmer north and central portions.

Tonight the Temple will have the feature, "Shadows of a Great City," in which Adelaide Thurston and Thomas Jefferson have the leading parts. Its a great play, and you can see for 20 cents what would cost you $1.50 to see in a metropolitan theater. A new series of the "Exploits of Elaine" begins tomorrow night, and is even more interesting than its predecessors. On Thursday night, the 14th, the theatrical season will open with the musical comedy, "Mutt and Jeff."

Mrs. J. K. Dickson and little daughter are home from their visit to Anderson, S. C. Mr. Dickson met them in Jacksonville in his car, and brought them overland the remainder of the journey.

Mr. J. V. Tarver, auditor for the Oklawaha Valley railroad, left yesterday afternoon for a two weeks' vacation, which he will spend in paying short visits to relatives at the following points: Memphis, Atlanta, Augusta, Stillmore and Savannah, going to the places in the order in which they are given.

Inez Kirk, the girl who raised such a row in the city jail Thursday night, was brought before the recorder Saturday morning and fined $10 or thirty days. Although the girl had money, she announced her intention of serving her time out, probably intending to make a Keeley cure out of the city jail. However, she either found the jail too monotonous, or concluded she had enough treatment, for Sunday morning she paid her fine and departed.

The big tree in front of the Air-dome has decayed so it is unsafe, and the street force is removing it.

Messrs. A. C. Hamrick, state manager of the Maccabees, with his brother-in-law, Mr. E. J. Crook, left yesterday morning for Miami in Mr. Hamrick's Maxwell roadster. They will make a good many stops en route, especially along the East Coast, and will be absent for some time.

IMITATION DIAMONDS.

They Lose Their Sparkle When They Lose Their Sharp Edges.

Only the expert can tell an imitation diamond from a real stone when the imitation is new, but after the fake stone has been worn for a little time it soon loses its lustre. It is this which makes a real diamond valuable. No matter how long it is worn it will keep its sparkle almost as well as ever.

The real reason for this is the hardness of the diamond. It is not due to any special quality in the stone itself, except its transparency and its hardness. The sparkle of a diamond depends on the sharpness of the edges and the points of its facets. When the light falls on one of these it is reflected to another facet, lying at a different angle and is refracted again, and so on many times. Each time the light is reflected it gives a point of brilliance, and, in most instances, splits up the light so that the red and blue rays are seen.

The imitation stone, to begin with, seldom has as many facets as a diamond. But, even if it had, the sharpness of these edges would wear off. Even exposure to the air will wear away any substance that is not extremely hard. And just as soon as there is any dulling of the edges of a facet, so soon there is a dimming of the brilliance of the stone.—New York American.

CALLED THE GAME.

Two Foul Balls Checked the Australian Sense of Propriety.

A game of baseball that was scheduled as a feature of the police and firemen's patriotic carnival at the agricultural show grounds came to an abrupt and dramatic conclusion almost before it was started. It was a match game, America versus Australia.

In America's second inning a player deflected a fast ball straight for the densest portion of the crowd, and a scream was heard. The ambulance men rushed to the spot and found that a woman had been struck on the head by the ball, but was not seriously injured.

Without waiting to see if any damage had been done the players coolly procured another ball and continued the game just as if nothing out of the ordinary had happened. A few moments later this ball was also deflected to the upper story of the pavilion, striking a man on the shoulder.

At this Mr. Flowers, the minister for health, who was present, rushed out on to the ground and called out: "Stop this silly game!" The players promptly obeyed his orders, and play ceased.—Sydney (Australia) Herald.

WORTH THEIR WEIGHT IN GOLD

"I have used Chamberlain's Tablets and found them to be just as represented, a quick relief for headaches, dizzy spells and other symptoms denoting a torpid liver and a disordered condition of the digestive organs. They are worth their weight in gold," writes Miss Clara A. Driggs, Elba, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

MISFORTUNES DO NOT COME SINGLY

and we will be very careful where we sit.

Long ago, in the good and easy times, we used to have two pairs of pants, but we never hope to be so opulent again.

Et Tu Brute

As we are not given to inflicting our troubles on the public, we had preferred that this tale of misfortune had gone unprinted and it would have had not an advantage, or rather two advantages, been taken of us.

It having become a rather suspicious circumstance for any member of the Star force to have new clothes, of course our appearance in unblemished trousers demanded an explanation, which was given in good faith and perfect trust, and we went on about our customary avocations. But Sunday morning, at the very hour when he should have been in Sunday school, Mr. Robert R. Carroll took his typewriter in his hand and divulged the tale of woe, after which he handed the copy to our young friends, Messrs. Dosh and Harris, of the composing room, with instructions to "railroad it." And they railroaded it, while we were eating our dinner and we didn't find it out till the first side of the paper had been printed. The fates, in the shape of an advertising contract compelled them to run the last half a dozen lines over on the fourth page, giving us a chance to make this explanation.

We do not deny any of the statements set forth, but we most pathetically ask the Star readers if they do not think it is heart-rending to make fun of an old man, rapidly approaching his second childhood. This Star office bunch is hard on the old man sometimes. During the Mendenhall trial, they took our only hat and strained gasoline thru it. As they had all got trusted for straw hats in the spring, we had the only felt hat in the house, and were consequently made the victim. However, to paraphrase Shakespeare, it isn't the hat that distinguishes the man, but what's in it.

The City.

Cities are made, not born. No two cities are alike. The sum of one city is never equal to all the parts of another. Once a city, not always a city; sometimes only a dust heap. A city is made up of a part of the country filled with inhabitants. It consists of houses, streets and debts. No city is complete without a hospital and a franchise plant. The hospital is used to shelter its victims and to provide its surgeons with plenty of working material. The franchise plant enables it to support politicians. A city without politicians would be like a steam laundry without any steam.

Cities are an antidote for farms. Up to date, however, no cure has been found for the antidote.—LIFE.

The Stuart Penny.

A pamphlet published in 1677, entitled "The Worth of a Penny, or, a Caution to Keep Money, With the Causes of the Scarcity and Misery of the Want Thereof In These Hard and Merciless Times," contains a list of articles obtainable for a penny in the days of Charles II. These include "a dish of coffee to quicken your stomach and refresh your spirits," "a fair cucumber" and "portions of such commodities as nuts, vinegar, grapes, cukes, onions and oatmeal." The catalogue of penny worths obtainable at an apothecary's is a lengthy one and includes "lettuce to make you sleep, mitridate to make you sweat and aniseed, which may save your life in a fainting or swoon."—London Mirror.

Odd Name Oddly Won.

The inn known as the "Same Yet," at Prestwich, has a curious history, which Mr. Hackwood relates: "The house originally bore the 'Seven Stars,' but many years ago it became necessary to have its faded sign repainted. When the painter asked the landlord what he was to put on the board he received the answer, 'The same yet.' And the man took him at his word."—London News.

Certainly Foolish.

We never heard of a man who tried to free himself of a manslaughter charge by pleading guilty to murder, but an up state man tried to prove he wasn't crazy the other day by claiming he was in love.—Milwaukee Journal.

NONE EQUAL TO CHAMBERLAIN

"I have tried most all of the cough cures and find that there is none that equal Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It has never failed to give me prompt relief," writes W. V. Harner, Montpelier, Ind. When you have a cold give this remedy a trial and see for yourself what a splendid medicine it is. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

TO THE PUBLIC

"I feel that I owe the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy a word of gratitude," writes Mrs. T. N. Whitehall, Gowanda, N. Y. "When I began taking this medicine I was in great pain and feeling terribly sick, due to an attack of summer complaint. After taking a dose of it I had not long to wait for relief as it benefited me almost immediately." Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

HOMELAND

Homeland, Oct. 6.—Mrs. M. F. Sanders of Early Bird, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Parker and family dined with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Parker Sunday. Miss Gertrude Parker, who has undergone a successful operation at the Gainesville hospital, has returned home. We are glad to say that she is considerably improved.

Mrs. A. J. Marlow has been quite sick for several days, but under the efficient treatment of her doctor, she is now out of danger.

Mr. Frank Parker made a business trip to Early Bird last Monday.

Homeland school under the efficient management of Miss Helen Thornton, is making good progress.

J. F. Parker and son James, Mr. H. R. Roddenberry and Mrs. M. F. Sanders motored to the Brick City last Tuesday on a business and shopping trip.

The Homeland friends of Miss Carrie Barco of Cotton Plant are sorry to hear that she is sick and hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Williams of Dunnellon were visiting relatives and friends in Homeland last Sunday and Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Roddenberry returned home last Sunday after spending a pleasant week with their parents at Citronelle.

The Florida Cracker Grist Mill Co. commenced business last Saturday, and judging from the power used, they certainly can make meal and grits.

Mr. Willie Parker was calling in Leroy Saturday evening. There must be some attraction there, Bill.

BILIOUSNESS & CONSTIPATION

It is certainly surprising that any woman will endure the miserable feelings caused by biliousness and constipation, when relief is so easily had and at so little expense. Mrs. Chas. Peck, Gates, N. Y., writes: "About a year ago I used two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and they cured me of biliousness and constipation." Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.
